

Follow-Up Report on use of Dining for Women funds

Program: Clinique Monique, Mali

Mission: To support community-based work that promotes health and education, especially for women and children, in the Koutiala region of Mali, West Africa.

DFW's donations were used to help build Clinique Monique. The rural clinic provides prenatal consultations minor surgeries and gynecological and obstetrical care.

Kris Holloway worked as a Peace Corp volunteer in Mali from 1980 to 1991. She partnered with WomensTrust, Inc., channeling donations for the clinic through their nonprofit 501(c)3 organization. A message from Kris Holloway:

Dear friends,

Since receiving donations of over $14,000 last year from you all, the progress on the clinic and in girls' education has been increasing steadily! I've attached two reports; the original report of how your donations were used (spent between December of last year and August of this year), and an English translation of it.

As you can see, the clinic is finished being built and Maxim (the founder of Clinique Monique, and Monique's eldest cousin) is at the point of outfitting the surgical and medical rooms! He graduated this past month from a 2.5 year program in Burkina Faso to become a medical/dental assistant and clinic manager (partially paid for you're your donations). As you may recall, this was a position the community really needed; someone with more education and background in healthcare, esp. someone who could do minor surgeries (hernia repair, for example), and perform basic dental care (filling cavities, pulling teeth). We're thrilled that he completed his degree and thesis, with honors!

Maxim is now back in Mali full-time (his wife and 4 daughters are very happy) and can focus on setting the clinic up in its new location. Your donations also were used for kids' schooling and health care expenses. I so wish I had photos to share, but Maxim no longer has access to a camera. We're hoping he can borrow one soon so that I have new ones. My husband John and I have not been back to Mali since our last trip almost two years ago, but we have high hopes of traveling there in a year's time.

Angele, Monique's sister, as you know, is a midwife now and hopes to work at the clinic once it is up and running. She got married last year and just had a healthy baby boy, Ibrahime, three weeks ago! So, she's resting up and doing well. Monique would be so happy...

Thanks again for all you do.

My best,

Kris Holloway
